Developer update

Hi Developers at Startup_Aya,

When reviewing your app, AttenteZéro (com.attentezero.app), we found that it doesn't comply with one or more of our Google Play policies, which has affected your app's status.

App Status: Rejected

Changes to your app weren't published because of the policy issue(s) listed below. If you have an older version of your app, it will still be available on Google Play.

You can learn more about this issue and how to fix it on Play Console.

Issue found: Violation of Misleading Claims policy

Your app has the following functionality issue(s):

- Missing Source Link for Government Information
Your app provides government information but lacks one or more clear and accessible URL/link(s) to the original source(s) (for example, .gov domains).

Your app contains content that doesn't comply with the Misleading Claims policy. We adopted this policy to promote trust and create a safe experience for users. That's why apps that provide government information, whether or not they are government affiliated, must strictly adhere to our Misleading Claims policy.

To resolve this issue, follow these steps:

1. If you have written documentation proving government affiliation or authorization to facilitate government services through your app:
 - Submit an appeal. If you already submitted it, please wait for a response after the appeal case has been created.
2. If you don't have government affiliation or authorization to facilitate government services through your app, follow these steps:
 1. Clarify and/or add to the information in your app.
 - Identify and provide in your description a clear, official, valid and functional source(s) for all of the government information(s) shared in your app.
 - Include in the description of your app an easy-to-see disclaimer stating that the app doesn't represent a government entity.
 2. Ensure compliance with all other Developer Program Policies.
 3. Submit your app update.

About the Misleading Claims policy

We don't allow apps that contain false or misleading information or claims, including in the description, title, icon, and screenshots. This includes apps that falsely claim affiliation with a government entity or to provide or facilitate government services for which they are not properly authorized.

If your app provides government-related information, you must provide the sources of the information in the app description and a clear disclaimer that you do not represent the government entity.

Submit an Appeal

If you believe that our decision is incorrect, you can submit an appeal. It may take up to 7 days to receive a response, but it occasionally takes longer.
